Summary of reasons for decision:

The computer moving image file promotes and supports bestiality and is deemed to be objectionable. The footage explicitly depicts sexual acts between a woman and a male dog. The purpose of the publication is the entertainment and sexual arousal of viewers. The presentation of bestiality as a pleasurable form of activity breaks down the taboos that surround it and presents bestiality as legitimate and desirable.

The classification of this publication interferes with the right to freedom of expression set out in the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990. However, this is an outcome that is consistent with Parliament's clear intention in s3(2) of the Films, Videos, and Publications Classification Act 1993. The classification is a reasonable limitation on the freedom of expression that reflects the concern of a free and democratic society to limit the availability of publications that promote and support bestiality.
